

INTERNATIONAL NUMISMATIC

NEWSLETTER

Le mot du salut des éditeurs

After the election of the new Council of INC in Berlin, it was decided that Giovanni Gorini, Padova and Günther Dembski, Vienna should take over as editors of our Newsletters. This was not an easy decision for us to make, not so much because we were afraid of the amount of work which is necessary to prepare, write, print and send out the newsletter, but because we were rather apprehensive about being able to maintain the almost perfect system of our predecessors and about being able to continue the work of two virtual professionals. Even in preparing this new number of the Newsletter we have found that with the change of team also time has passed so quickly, that we were not able to bring out the Newsletter in Autumn/Winter 1997! On the other hand we have also found out that the fountains of generous financial help will not be the same for us as for our predecessors. So we decided that from next edition of the Newsletter on we will try to keep information short (e.g. describe numismatic teaching in an overview, rather than giving exact details, etc.). On the other hand we are very keen to include information about numismatic events in smaller countries, to illustrate the broad range of different numismatic interests and scholars working in the field. To be able to do this we need the help of you all. Please fill out and return our questionnaire in time.

We apologise for the delay of this number and we promise that INN 32 will be printed in autumn 1998 in time.

• Giovanni Gorini - Günther Dembski

President's address

This is the first newsletter to appear since the International Numismatic Congress at Berlin. I hope all of you who attended it enjoyed it as much as I did. A good number of very interesting papers were given, and a busy programme of social events had been organised for us. May I, through this newsletter, publicly express the thanks of the numismatic community to Bernd Kluge and his colleagues for all their hard work on our behalf.

The congress was also the occasion for the General Meeting of the INC, an extremely well attended meeting, with some 100 delegates and proxies present. At the meeting a number of honorary members were elected, including Cécile Morrisson and the other retiring members of the Council. To all of them we express our thanks for their work on behalf of the INC for many years. The meeting elected the new committee (see below), and gave it wider powers of action. The new committee intends, to continue our previous activities designed to facilitate communication and co-operation. The principal way of doing this has been through the INC's publications - the International Numismatic Newsletter, the Coins and Computers Newsletter and the Compte rendu. All of these will continue with new editors, and we can all be grateful to them for undertaking the considerable amount of work involved - Giovanni Gorini for the INN, Kenneth Jonsson and Bill Metcalf for the CCN and Michel Amandry for the Cr.

A sad note is struck by the news of the deaths of several of our Honorary members. The year has taken three of our distinguished colleagues away from us - Professor Anne Robertson of Glasgow, Professor Robert Göbl of Vienna and Professor Tony Hackens of Louvain. Professor Hackens' death coming only a few weeks after his election as an Honorary member of the INC. Obituaries of all will appear in the Compte rendu.

We are all conscious that we live in an electronic age, and we want the INC to use electronic communication. For that reason we are establishing a web-site; its address will be published in INN 32. Initially this will contain information about the INC, but we also hope to build up a directory of all numismatic institutions with their addresses and other areas of interest. Please complete one of the forms included in the Newsletter. We all spend a lot of unnecessary time looking up people's addresses and trying to discover new contacts, so the Council feels that this will be a very important new initiative. If you have any other ideas for what you would like to see on a web-site, please contact any of the members of the Council.

The General Meeting in Berlin decided that the next Congress will be held in Madrid in 2003 and the organisation will be entrusted principally to one of our Council members, Carmen Alfaro. Although the next congress is several years away, we would invite you all to send any thoughts or ideas about its organisation to her in Madrid.

Finally, please remember that the Council of the INC wants to hear from you, both about news for the Newsletter, but also about any ideas you may have for activities we can undertake or facilitate. Please get in touch!

MEETING OF THE COUNCIL INTERNATIONAL NUMISMATIC COMMISSION (London, March 1998)

The new INC Council, which was elected in Berlin at the International Congress, held its first meeting in London on March 15-16.

Since the Congress applications for membership had been received from the Pushkin Museum (Moscow), the Manchester Museum, the Uppsala University Coin Cabinet and the State Historical Museum (Moscow). The membership now stands at XXX from XX countries.

The Council received reports on the projects under the INC's patronage - Sylloge Nummorum Graecorum (3 volumes published in 1997 and in press), Lexicon Iconographicum Mythologiae Classicae (complete, now moving towards an electronic version), Numismatic Literature (new regional editors recruited), Trésors monétaires protobyzantins (completion in 1998), Coin Hoards (in Num. Chron.; a new separate volume of Greek hoards in preparation) and Sylloge Nummorum Sasanidorum (one volume ready).

The finances of the INC were reviewed and, after much discussion, it was agreed to seek sponsorship for the Newsletter and to raise the subscription to SF 250 from 1999.

Links with other bodies were also discussed - the Centro Internazionale di Studi Numismatici (G. Gorini was appointed as the INC representative), the Oriental Numismatic Society, the International Association of Professional Numismatists (a meeting was arranged with Dr Mildenberg, the IAPN representative) and ICOMON.

Günther Dembski and Giovanni Gorini reported on progress with the Newsletter (which will appear in the summer). As for the Compte rendu, the new editor (Michel Amandry) proposed including articles on matters such as conservation and the history of numismatics, as well as continuing the present series on the history of collections and the law regarding antiquities and coins in different countries.

Bill Metcalf and Kenneth Jonsson reported on the proposed new website and the CCN Newsletter. The web-site will go live during 1998 and initially contain material from the Compte rendu, though an early project is to build up a directory of numismatic institutions with e-mail addresses. Other projects will include a listing of scholarships and grants, and material from the Newsletter, including details of new books.

The INC Travelling Scholarship for 1998 was awarded to Katerina Panagoulou.

Carmen Alfaro presented initial plans for the Madrid Congress, to be held in September 2003. A website with information will be established at the Museo Arqueológico Nacional.

TRÉSORS / HOARDS II

A third Viking-Age hoard from Ocksarve, Gotland

In May 1997 a new hoard was discovered during ploughing at Ocksarve, Hemse par, Gotland, Sweden. This represents the third Viking-Age hoard found on the farm. In 1886 a hoard with 437 Sasanian, Ispahad, and Islamic coins, t.p.q. 840/1 was found. In 1920 the biggest hoard so far with 678 coins, t.p.q. 1120, was found. It included coins from a large number of countries, but the majority were Islamic, German, and English. It also included two remarkable parcels, one with 81 Roman denarii dating from the first and second centuries AD (probably a hoard found c. 1100 and added to the other coins), and the other with 123 Byzantine miliaria from the mid-11th century.

The new hoard contains 366 coins weighing 480 g as well as numerous hacksilver pieces weighing a total of 4,525 g. The silver objects included a ferrule for a sword with graffiti depicting two crossed swords, but consisted mainly of four packets of twisted rods placed in a circle. The coins were found in various locations inside and between the packets. No remains of a container were found, but the locations of the packets suggest a chip-box. The hoard was buried shortly after 999 (Strassburg, bishop Alwich 999-1001).

	Numbers	T.p.q.
Islamic	3	915-920
German	343	999
Italian	3	962
Bohemian	7	967
English	6	985
Nordic	2	975/80

A view of the third Viking-Age hoard from Ocksarve, Gotland.

The hoard belongs to a period when the import of coins had shifted from the east (Islamic dirhams) to the west (mainly German pfennige and English pennies). The composition is quite unlike any other contemporary hoard where the relationship between German and English is between 1:1 and 2:1. The unusual composition is also reflected in the fact that there are no recent English pennies present although the Crux (c. 991-997) and Long Cross (c. 997-1003) types of Aethelred II are two of the most common types in other hoards. It is also unusual not to include the earliest Swedish coins struck from c. 995 at Sigtuna during Olof Skötkonung. This suggests some special circumstance for the acquisition of the coins. This is also evident from the German part, where the number of coins from the most common mints are listed below.

(Goslar)	174
Mainz	48
Köln	29
Konstanz	22
Worms	15
Strassburg	14
Regensburg	9
Augsburg	5

The figures are basically consistent with other contemporary hoards except that coins from the south (Mainz, Konstanz, Strassburg, Regensburg, and Augsburg) are much more common than elsewhere while there are fewer coins of Köln. This would suggest that a major parcel collected in southern Germany had been added to coins mainly collected further north. The poor representation of English coins suggests the middle Elbe-region as the area where the coins were acquired by a Viking merchant.

Among the coins the eastern element is very weak with only three dirhams, but among the silver items there are some pieces probably originating from the east.

The packets of silver in the hoard are extraordinary and probably made from coins which had been melted down.

During the excavation of the site four Roman denarii (Marcus Aurelius, Lucius Verus, and Commodus) were also found but they were not part of the hoard.

COINS AND COMPUTERS/NUMISMATICS ON INTERNET

The Coins and Computers Newsletter Nos. 9-10 (June/December 1997) just appeared. Editors are Kenneth Jonsson (E-mail: kenneth.jonsson@ark.su.se) and William E. Metcalf (E-mail: metcalf@amnumsoc.org)

Here you can find contributions of Gareth Williams: "An interactive world of money", William E. Metcalf: "Questions and answers"; "The INC homepage" (The INC will soon have its own home page. All information currently contained in the annual Compte-rendu will be available on-line, and links to member organizations will be built. The precise format is not yet determined, but it is hoped to post pages in the two official languages of the commission (English and French) and others (German, Italian, Spanish) as well.

The URL (Universal Resource Locator, i.e. the address) will be announced via NUMISM-L, the INCNewsletter, and other appropriate media. Suggestions for additions to the home-page are welcome, and should be submitted to the editors of CCN, Kenneth Jonsson and William E. Metcalf.

Kenneth Jonsson brings in this new number of CCN "Numismatic home pages on the Internet", which he also had prepared for this Newsletter. We repeat here his information:

Home pages, also known as web sites, are where various organisations present themselves on the internet. The number of sites dedicated to numismatics has been growing rapidly in recent years and therefore it would be useful to present a survey of the material available at present. The address often begins with the letters www ("World Wide Web") and can either be listed according to country (e.g. ".se" for Sweden) or on a company basis (".com").

There are a number of ways to search for these sites using the search facilities provided by e.g. Altavista, (www.altavista.com), Hotbot (www.hotbot.com), Lycos (www.lycos.com), Yahoo (www.yahoo.com). The list below presents the URL and the language(s) in which the home page is presented. The general principles has been to include all non-commercial sites, which, in effect, means that coin dealers are excluded. However mints are included although some government mints may advertise their products openly. Of course, the present list is a mere sample of what is available and much more could have been listed if more time had been devoted to search the Internet.

The list now includes mints, museums, institutions, societies, universities and private individuals, some of which could qualify under more than one heading.

Many web sites use the local language, but quite a few present their information in two languages or even more. The abbreviations used here are: Dan - Danish; Dut - Dutch; Eng - English; Fin - Finnish; Fre - French; Ger - German; Hun - Hungarian; Ita - Italian; Nor - Norwegian; Por - Portuguese; Spa - Spanish; Swe - Swedish.

One problem with home pages is that they are subject to frequent change of addresses without giving a link to the new address. Some of the web sites listed here are of little interest at present as they only provide a minimum of information. However, due to the rapid development of the Internet media, web sites may change their appearance from one day to the another and be very useful in their new and expanded shape.

The list provided here will be continually updated and additional addresses will be published in subsequent issues of CCN. We will also provide the list on data and, if you send an e-mail (kenneth.jonsson@ark.su.se), we will return the latest complete list by e-mail. This updated list will also include e-mail addresses. Information about home pages not listed here is welcome.

INTERNATIONAL NUMISMATIC COMMISSION

QUESTIONNAIRE FOR MEMBERS

Following the Congress and INC meeting in Berlin, the Council of the INC invites comments on the arrangements for both (sections 1-2). Comments are also invited on the work of the INC Council (section 3).

Please answer (in any of the 5 Congress languages!) as many questions as you wish and please add further comments.

Please write to the Secretary or any of the Council members of the INC at any time about these or any other matters (see above for addresses).

All individual answers will be treated confidentially. They will be used to help with the organisation of the next Congress and INC General Meeting.

SECTION 1: Questions about the BERLIN CONGRESS

Cost

The registration fee was DM 150. Did you think this was ☐ cheap ☐ reasonable ☐ expensive?

Was the range of prices for accommodation the right one?

If not, please comment

Size

Was the conference too big?

If so, how big should it have been?

If it were limited in size, how would you ensure that there was a balance between different types (country of origin, subject of interest, etc.) of participants?

Information

Did you get enough information before you arrived?

If not, what would you like to have had, and when?

Did you get enough information when you arrived?

If not, what else would you have liked?

Do you have any comments about

1. List of participants

2. Abstracts

3. Programme

There were 5 official languages (English, German, French, Italian, Spanish). Is this the right choice?

If you think there should be fewer languages which do you think are the most important?

Any other remarks

Survey of Numismatic Research

Do you think, generally, that the 1990-95 Survey was

☐ good ☐ average ☐ poor

Please explain your answer.

Was it the right length? Please comment

Did it have the right structure?

There was some discussion at the General Meeting of the division of the sub-sections in the Medieval & Modern Section. How do you think it should be divided up? (please give a detailed answer, as general comments are sometimes difficult to interpret).

Is it worth having an index of authors?

Should The Survey be available on disc / CD-Rom?

If so how much more would you be prepared to pay?

☐ <DM 50 ☐ DM 50-100 ☐ DM 100-200 ☐ >DM 200

Any other comments

Sections

Was the division into the five sections (Ancient, Medieval & Modern, Oriental, General, Medals) the right choice?

If not, should there be more or fewer than 5 sections?

If so, please specify:

Plenary sessions

Did you think they were good, average or poor?

Please say why

Is it better to have only one at a time (as on the Monday), so that all participants can go?

Was it a good idea to have the 10 plenary sessions, rather than just the short 20 minute sessions?

If yes, would it have been better to have more (e.g. every day rather than only two days)?

Was 60 minutes the right amount of time, or would 45 be better?

Section sessions

Would you prefer to have fewer parallel sessions?

If so, would you be happy for them to run continuously (i.e without the lunch break)?

Is 20 minutes + 10 for discussion the right amount of time?

If not, what is?

Do you think the organisers should make the sessions more structured (perhaps by fixing some themes for the sections, and by commissioning individual chairmen to arrange a programme for them in advance)?

Plenary summary

Quality of papers

What did you think of the general standard of papers? Was it

Please explain your answer:

Is there anything you can suggest that would improve the quality?

Do you think all the papers should be published?

If not how would you decide which ones to publish?

Round tables

Did you think any of these were useful?

If so, which?

Are there any other round tables that you would have liked to have had?

Were they at the right time, or should they have been in the evening? Please comment

Podium discussion

Did you think this was a good idea?

What do you think it achieved?

What did you think of the choice of speakers?

Were there too many questions?

Were the questions the right ones?

What other questions could there have been?

Which do you think were the three most important questions?

☐ 3.

Excursions

The excursions were arranged at the end of the Congress so as to allow those not going to save money by reducing the length of their stay. Was this a good idea?

Or would you rather have the excursion in the middle of the Congress, to allow more informal contact?

Were the excursions too ambitious/expensive?

If so, what sort of event would you like?

Congress dinner

If you went, what did you think about it?

If you did not go, why not?

Did you think the price (DM 75) was

☐ cheap

☐ reasonable

☐ expensive?

SECTION 2: Questions about INC GENERAL MEETING

Timing

In the past the Meeting has been held on Saturday after the end of the Congress. In 1997 it was held during the Congress so that participants did not have to stay a day longer in Berlin. Another idea would be to have it on the Sunday before, since most people have to include a Saturday night for their cheap air fare. Which would you prefer:

☐ 1. the Sunday afternoon before the Congress

- ☐ 2. sometime during the congress
- ☐ 3. the Saturday morning after the congress?

Council elections

Should the voting for the new Council start at the beginning of the meeting?

Should nominations to the Council be allowed at the meeting, or should they be made only in advance?

Should the Council ask members to nominate candidates for the next Council, say a year in advance of the next General Meeting?

Would you support a system that required all nominations (together with a letter from the nominee, stating that he or she was willing to stand and prepared to devote time and effort to the job) to be sent to the Secretary 6 months in advance?

Honorary Members

The meeting elected 14 new Honorary Members. Was this

- ☐ 1. too many
- ☐ 2. about the right number
- ☐ 3. too few?

If 1 or 3, what do you think would be the right number?

What do you think should be the most important criteria for election to Honorary Membership?

- ☐ 1.
- ☐ 2.
- ☐ 3.

Content

Are there other matters (in addition to those that were discussed) that you would like to have discussed at the General Meeting.

SECTION 3: INC COUNCIL

1. At present the efforts of the Council are focused on

- ☐ the Newsletter (2 times per year)
- ☐ the annual Compte rendu the Coins and Computers Newsletter (CCN)
- ☐ the award of the travelling scholarship, and other grants to those attending the Congress
- ☐ the co-ordination of projects under the patronage of the INC
- ☐ the arrangements for the next Int Num Congress and Survey

2. The new Council is intending to build up its role as a co-ordinating body helping the flow of information.

It intends to do this by establishing a web site. What would you like to see on the INC website:

- ☐ information about the INC
- ☐ a directory of numismatists with their addresses and main fields of interest
- ☐ information about new books
- ☐ the Newsletter
- ☐ the Compte rendu
- ☐ the CCN
- ☐ Survey of Research
- ☐ anything else?

Please comment on this proposal

3. Other activities.

What else would you like the Council to do?

Mostra: I Farnese al Castello di Bardi, luglio-settembre 1997. Monete e medaglie a cura di E. Ercolani Cocchi

Padova

Il 4 dicembre 1997, presso il Museo Bottacin-Musei Civici agli Eremitani di Padova, è stata inaugurata la Mostra "Se non v'è denar, l'Arcadia... è presto terminata. Simbolismo nelle monete e nelle medaglie tra Controriforma e Secolo dei Lumi". Nel suo insieme l'iniziativa tende ad offrire un'immagine ben documentata della produzione monetaria e medagliistica del Sei-Settecento in Italia, in sintonia con la recente esposizione dei dipinti del Museo d'Arte dal titolo "dal Padovanino al Tiepolo". L'esposizione, diretta da Davide Banzato e Gian Franco Martinoni, curata dal prof. Giovanni Gorini, dal prof. Andrea Saccocci, da Roberta Parise e Elisabetta Chino è accompagnata da un catalogo articolato in quattro sezioni, due delle quali relative alle monete e due alle medaglie del periodo considerato.

Buža, Udine

A Buža si è inaugurato il 16 maggio 1998 il Museo della Medaglia. Nasce per valorizzare gli artisti bujesi, spesso medaglisti insigni come i Giampaoli e i Monassi, ma anche per raccogliere le opere degli artisti italiani. Con questo scopo è stata allestita una mostra di medaglie che ricordano il terremoto del Friuli, donate da trenta artisti italiani. Una sezione didattica mostrerà come viene concepita e realizzata una medaglia, attraverso le fasi della creazione e della realizzazione. Una medaglia commemorativa del nuovo Museo, opera di Piero Monassi è stata coniata dallo Stabilimento Johnson di Milano.

Memorial volume for Martin Price

A reception was held on 16 March at the British Museum to mark the publication of Studies in Greek Numismatics in Memory of Martin Price, a volume containing some 40 articles written by Martin Price's colleagues and friends. The reception was attended by guests from Austria, Belgium, France, Holland, Italy, Poland, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, and USA, as well as from all over Great Britain. In presenting the volume to Maria Price, Martin's widow, Andrew Burnett spoke of Martin Price's own achievements and how proceeds from the sale of the book would go to the Martin Price Memorial Fund, a fund set up by the Royal Numismatic Society to support the work of young scholars studying Greek Numismatics.

Collection Georges Zacos

Monsieur Georges Zacos, décédé en 1983, fut le plus grand collectionneur de sceaux byzantins du siècle. Initié à la sigillographie par le père V. Laurent, alors que les Assomptionnistes étaient encore établis à Kadiköy, G. Zacos commença une première collection après la fin de la seconde guerre mondiale. En 1951, il vendit cette première collection, constituée à Istanbul grâce aux sceaux que la mer rejetait sur la côte après les tempêtes, au Centre d'Études byzantines de Dumbarton Oaks (Washington). Il continua à rassembler les sceaux byzantins lorsqu'il vint s'établir en Suisse. Il sélectionnait soigneusement les pièces, remplaçant des sceaux défectueux par des exemplaires en meilleure condition quand il le pouvait, sans hésiter à payer des "prix d'amateur". Il reconstitua un ensemble comprenant plus de 6000 sceaux qui formaient, et de loin, la plus grande collection privée au monde.

Les 6232 sceaux offerts généreusement par Madame Janet Zacos au Département des Monnaies, Médailles et Antiques de la Bibliothèque nationale de France constituent une source de premier ordre pour la prosopographie et l'histoire de l'administration de l'Empire byzantin, sans compter que certains d'entre eux sont des chefs d'œuvre artistiques. Une partie de ces sceaux ont été publiés par G. Zacos lui-même dans deux ouvrages devenus une référence pour tous les byzantinistes (G. Zacos et A. Vegliery, Byzantine Lead Seals I, Bâle, 1972; G. Zacos, Byzantine Lead Seals II, édité par J.W. Nesbitt, Berne, 1984). Une grande partie est restée inédite, notamment les sceaux comportant un nom de famille (XI-XIV^e s.). Ces sceaux sont parmi les plus remarquables puisqu'ils permettent de doubler pour le moins le nombre de membres connus d'une famille et font donc progresser l'histoire sociale de Byzance. Ajoutons que les sceaux, tous en bonne condition, ont été classés par G. Zacos lui-même et ont été remarquablement photographiés. La Bibliothèque nationale de France s'enrichit donc d'un ensemble tel qu'aucun collectionneur ne pourra rassembler à l'avenir et qui double le matériel déjà conservé dans l'établissement.

Coinage in Macedonia, Thessaloniki, 15-17 May 1998

A congress was held about the coinage of Greek, Roman, Byzantine and modern Macedonia. Three invited speakers from abroad introduced each of the sections on Greek, Roman and Byzantine coins (Olivier Picard, Andrew Burnett and Michael Metcalf), and each session contained a number of papers on different aspects of the coinage of the region. The papers (a total of about 20) considered new discoveries and new hoards, as well as considering inscriptions and iconography, and ranged in date from the earliest Greek coins of the region to its coinage under Ottoman rule. There was also a poster session, where another 15 presentations were made. The conference was very successful, and - intriguingly - actually took place in the restored cryptopoticus in the Roman forum, only a few metres from the site where remains of the late Roman mint of Thessalonica were found a few years ago. On the last day, an excursion was made (in the rain!), and visited, amongst other places, Stagira, a beautiful site by the sea where Aristotle was born.

Franco PANVINI ROSATI (14.12.1923-4.5.1998)

Il 4 maggio 1998 a Roma a seguito di una grave malattia è mancato Franco Panvini Rosati, professore ordinario di Numismatica greca e romana presso l'Università "La Sapienza" di Roma. Aveva iniziato la sua prestigiosa carriera subito dopo la Seconda Guerra Mondiale come assistente della prof. Cesano all'Università di Roma, per poi succederle nel posto di direttore del Medagliere del Museo Nazionale Romano, nel contempo era stato incaricato di Numismatica presso l'Università di Bologna fino al 1974 quando, vincitore del concorso a professore ordinario, era passato all'Università insegnando prima a Palermo, poi a Macerata ed infine a Roma, succedendo alla prof.ssa L. Breglia. Aveva insegnato anche per diversi anni alla Scuola di Perfezionamento in Archeologia Classica dell'Università di Pisa, formando ovunque numerose schiere di allievi, alcuni dei quali si sono distinti per lavori e studi di materiale numismatico.

Fu soprattutto grazie al suo interessamento se la Collezione Reale di Vittorio Emanuele III ebbe finalmente una sede nel Medagliere Nazionale di Roma con una targa a ricordo, posta dalla Società Italiana di Numismatica. Ricchissima la sua bibliografia accademica che comprende lavori soprattutto sulla monetazione romana imperiale ed etrusca, per quanto si sia anche interessato di monetazione medievale italiana, soprattutto toscana, e di medaglistica. Numerosi sono i suoi articoli sul materiale numismatico conservato nel Museo Nazionale Romano o proveniente da scavi avvenuti in tutto il territorio italiano, memorabili i cataloghi di numerose esposizioni in particolare al Museo Civico di Bologna e sulle medaglie italiane.

Persona dal tratto garbato e signorile apparteneva alla generazione dei "conoscitori" delle monete antiche e medievali, che per lui non avevano segreti di classificazione. Sosteneva la necessità di pubblicare i materiali da ritrovamento e da collezione e partecipò attivamente alla vita culturale italiana con numerose conferenze presso i Circoli numismatici, le Accademie e i Centri Studi, dovunque facendosi apprezzare per l'ampia visione dei problemi in cui la moneta era vista nei suoi diversi collegamenti con la storia, l'archeologia e l'economia.

Aveva organizzato con L. Breglia e A. Stazio il Congresso Internazionale di Numismatica del 1961 a Roma e diretto dal 1973 al 1979 la Rivista Italiana di Numismatica.

Era socio delle principali Società Numismatiche europee e Membro Corrispondente di quella Americana, insignito della targa d'argento della Società Numismatica Italiana nel 1997, era socio dell'Accademia dei Lincei e della Pontificia Accademia di Archeologia.
